Cecilia Cove Park is part of a mixed-use development along the Selkirk Waterfront in Victoria.

Inspired by the presence of ruins left from an old mill, PWL integrated the artifacts into the park design. Site grading suggests an archaeological dig and reveals the concrete relics left by the mill. The stair ruin is used as a stage set overlooking a children’s play area and the waterfront beyond. The park has become a jewel along the Galloping Goose Trail.

Location
Vancouver, British Columbia

Date
1996–1997

Owner
City of Victoria

Client
JAWL Holdings

Select Awards
» Waterfront Centre Honor Award 1997